GA-CHAK
You have a de-livery!
Oh, you did it...!
Looks good, doesn't it?
If we were ever going to travel somewhere again, we needed to be better prepared. And so, as soon as we returned to the workshop, I ordered a certain object from a local craftsman. And although I was the one who came up with a sketch for it, I was still amazed at how good it looked in reality.
Th... The chair...
The chair is moving ...!
It's not called a wheel-chair for nothing~
Ha Ha...
Resz-urre-san!
I want you to try some-thing ...
g-Yes!
ROLL...
ROLL...
The wheelchair is just an imitation of something I saw in the capital once, but considering that I had it made by a specialist in farm equipment, it should at least be pretty durable. On the other hand, it's also quite heavy, but as long as we don't travel long distances, it should be a much better option for both of us than me carrying Reszurre on my back.
